

大陸資訊及研究中心

0053164

CHINA HAND

An Autobiography

John Paton Davies, Jr.

“From his battles with Senator McCarthy, to his heroic achievements in the Burmese jungle, from his insightful predictions of the Chinese civil war, to his ultimate dismissal from the U.S. Foreign Service, Davies holds nothing back. Loaded in story and analysis, China Hand is a terrific book about a fascinating figure in American history.”

—Jon Meacham, Pulitzer Prize-winning author of American Lion

“An important book about a pivotal time in America, with relevance for the present and future. As history and biography, China Hand is first rate.”—Dan Rather

“Among the State Department’s ‘China Hands’ of the 1930s and 40s, John Paton Davies was one of the most eminent, until our domestic debates destroyed his career. China Hand is a gripping account of that era.”—Dr. Henry A. Kissinger

“Davies predicted more accurately than anyone else, prior to the Cold War, what China’s course would be during it. We are most fortunate to have his posthumous autobiography available at last, in which he explains, in shrewd and sparkling prose, how he did this. His book is a major new contribution to World War II and early Cold War history.”—John Lewis Gaddis, author of George F. Kennan: An American Life

“China Hand is a vital missing link in the terrible story of America savaging itself politically over the Communist conquest of China. This testimony by a leading victim in that maelstrom of hysteria and falsehood makes sobering reading in today’s political climate.”—Robert MacNeil

University of Pennsylvania Press

Philadelphia

www.upenn.edu/pennpress

ISBN 978-0-8122-4401-4

CONTENTS

Foreword by Todd S. Purdum vii

PART I LEAVING AND RETURNING 1

- I The Firing 3
- II From China to America 8
- III My Itinerant Education 14
- IV Hankow, the Far East Desk, and Pearl Harbor 25

PART II "THIS ASSIGNMENT IS NOT MADE AT YOUR REQUEST NOR FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE" 37

- V To Asia with Stilwell 39
- VI A Moment with Mr. Gandhi 55
- VII Nehru and "The Problem" 70
- VIII An American in India 82
- IX Willkie, Washington, and Vinegar Joe 92
- X Among the Naga Headhunters 109

PART III PUBLIC AND PERSONAL DIPLOMACY 125

- XI The Politics of War 127

xii	Cairo: With Roosevelt, Churchill, and Chiang	142
xiii	The Resurrection of Britain's Empire in Asia May Be Said to Lie Outside the Scope of Our Mission	155
xiv	Patricia's Passage to India; A Soong Family Fracas	164
PART IV THE QUESTION OF CHINA		175
xv	Stilwell's Wars	177
xvi	The Generalissimo Versus the General	194
xvii	Meeting Mao	210
xviii	Communists Versus Nationalists Versus Hurley	226
PART V MOSCOW NIGHTS AND DAYS		241
xix	Posted to Moscow	243
xx	Hurley's Opening Salvo	262
xxi	Postwar Moscow	274
PART VI AT WAR AT HOME		287
xxii	Returning to America, and the China Lobby	289
xxiii	Assigned to Kennan's Policy Planning Staff	295
xxiv	Working with the National Security Council	306
xxv	Revisiting Asia in 1948	312
xxvi	"The Most Nefarious Campaign of Half-Truths and Untruth in the History of the Republic"	320
	Epilogue by Bruce Cumings	331
	Index	341
	Acknowledgments	353
	Gallery follows page 240	